

UBC Sauder students are set up for success with hands-on experience

Building Careers

AWARD-WINNING CAREER SERVICES

From a resumé analytics engine to Skype coaching to lessons on personal branding, the Hari B. Varshney Business Career Centre's efforts are noticed nationwide, earning the Special Award for Innovation by a Career Centre in 2016 from national career resource TalentEgg.

LEADERSHIP LESSONS FROM THE CANUCKS

Trevor Linden and Victor de Bonis headlined UBC Sauder's annual Leaders Reception for 2016, sharing stories with Dean Helsley of leading the Vancouver Canucks, and offering advice to this year's MBA graduates.

Career impact

MBA 2015

employed by graduation

BCOM 2015

employed within 3 months of graduation

PT MBA 2015

enhanced their career through promotion or career change

MM 2015

employed within 3 months of graduation

MMOR 2015

employed within 3 months of graduation

*Sample of employers

Placing students in global companies through co-op

Close to 20 per cent of third and fourth year BCom students spend one or more work terms applying what they learn at local and global companies.

BRANDING HER CAREER DREAMS

Captivated by the world's biggest brands, Sharon Shi focused her career path accordingly with UBC Sauder's Brand Management Mentorship Program and co-ops at Coca Cola and Nature's Path - leading to a job at PepsiCo straight out of her BCom.

"It's pretty much my dream job. I can't wait to get started with my career."

Sharon Shi
BCom Class of 2016

USING BIG DATA TO DRIVE BIG CHANGE

Justin Lew specializes in Business Technology Management in his BCom, and applied his skills to a co-op with WorkSafeBC and another with Deloitte where he took a wealth of unrefined data and devised a five-year technology strategy for a major client.

"It's exciting being on the leading edge. Because there's so much growth in the area, Business Technology Management almost ensures your success before you even start."

Justin Lew
BCom Class of 2016

Experiential learning

After a key part of the UBC MBA experience, many interns receive a full-time job offer from their internship employer.

TAKING A FASHION LABEL GLOBAL

Once a printmaker in art school, Kate Hyde fostered a love of logistics at UBC Sauder, and sewed her passions together in her internship as she devised a model to guide fashion retailer Kit and Ace's global expansion, marketing initiatives.

"I'm looking at the world in a different way. I look at these systems that work together and I like that."

Kate Hyde
MBA Class of 2016

GIVING POWER TO A GLOBAL STRATEGY

As an intern Abrar Khan designed a system to help Schneider Electric keep power flowing from its solar plants worldwide - and now as a full-time analyst he's continuing to leverage his expertise for the company after graduation.

"The key reason why I was selected for the job was because I had worked with parts management before and now, with my MBA, had a business background to go with that experience."

Abrar Khan
MBA Class of 2016